A Very Useless Insect.

A writer in the Philadelphia Times who has been looking up the record of the mosquito in natural history has come to the conclusion that it is a very useless insect. Here is the result of his investigation:

"Just why the mosquito bites people is not yet known. It is not to furnish it food, for it is an established fact that a mosquito, after gorging himself with human blood, dies within a few hours, whereas mosquitoes that have never tasted blood have been known to live very comfortably, even through the entire winter and into the next season. The adult mosquito does not need food. During its larva stage it has stored up enough nourishment to last all its life, and it is a normal state for it to go without food for the rest of its existence. All that it needs is moist air, adult mosquitoes being known to pass the winter in damp cellars, living on nothing but the moisture.

The reason men become helpless and diseased is because the food they eat, which is the fuel of life, is not properly digested and appropriated by the stomach and nutritive organs. It is not completely transformed into the strength and working power which is to man what steam is to the engine.

That wonderful power-making "Golden Medical Discovery," invented by Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., imbues the human digestive juices and blood-making glands with capacity to extract abundant nourishment from the food. It builds up organic tissue, nerve fiber, hard muscular flesh and working force. It gives a man steam.

What it did for Mr. F. S. Hughes, of Junction, Haulerdon Co., N. J., is given in his own words. He writes: "I received your kind letter, and in reply would say that mine was a bad case of kidney and heart trouble, and that the bottles of Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and other bottles of little Pellets effected a complete cure. It is well known that almost every engineer is troubled more or less with fatigue, trouble especially our fast express trains. I run one hundred and forty-four miles in these trains every day, 1 1/2 hr. to 2 hr., and have had no return of the trouble since taking the remedies, nearly three years ago."

Home of the Edam Cheese.

While the Edam cheese is a familiar visitor on the table not every one knows whence it comes nor how its cannon ball proportions and gay coloring have been achieved. The northern part of Holland is the seat of the Edam cheese industry, and the consequent cleanliness of the relish is therefore doubly assured.

In making it the fresh cow's milk is carefully strained and the rennet added. As soon as the milk curdles the whey is drawn off, and the curd, thoroughly kneaded, is pressed into molds. This process is repeated until the whey has all been extracted and the curd is comparatively dry. It is then wrapped in a linen cloth and kept for 10 or 12 days until quite solid. Then the cloth is removed and the cheese put into salt lye. Afterward a little more dry salt is sprinkled on the cheese until the maker thinks it is salt enough to insure its keeping.

This bath has an exhilarating influence, tones the entire system and gives to the skin a healthful condition that amply repays for the time and trouble involved. If used in the winter, it will be an excellent preventive of colds, besides being a substitute for cosmetics. No chapping, no roughness of the skin and no clogging of the pores will trouble the person who systematically and regularly takes a bath of this sort.

Ordinary table salt or rock salt will do, but will not do so well. The sea salt contains medicinal properties not found in the others. Whether one exercises or not the body should receive a daily hand bath of cold or cool water, especially in the summer, either upon rising or before retiring, either upon the door or the window, the door ceremoniously, mounted his box and they started. In half a minute the cab was at a standstill and Thackeray saw the cabman at the door, bowing to him to come out. He did so without a word, and found that he was at the portico of the station hotel, which he had failed to see was not a dozen yards off.

But he handed the man a shilling and was entering the hotel, rather pleased with his own sang froid, when he was amazed to see the cabman taking off his coat and offering to "fight him for the other sixpence." It appears that on that day a resolution of the Reading town council had come into operation empowering hackney coachmen to charge eighteenpence for any distance within the township. This was its first fruits! It is unnecessary to add that the cabman got his money and Thackeray a good story to tell at the clubs.

Saved the Vase.

The little son of an English gentleman, in mischievously playing with a vase, managed, after several attempts to get his hand through the narrow neck, and was then unable to extricate it. For half an hour or more the whole family and one or two friends did their best to withdraw the fist of the young offender, but in vain. It was a very valuable vase, and the father was loath to break it, but the existing state of affairs could not continue forever. At length, after a final attempt to draw forth the hand of the victim, the father gave up his efforts in despair, but tried a last suggestion.

"Open your hand!" he commanded the tearful young captive, "and then draw it forth."

"I can't open it, father," declared the boy.

"Can't?" demanded his father.

"Why?"

"I've got my penny in my hand," came the astounding reply.

"Why, you young rascal!" thundered his father, "drop it at once!"

The penny rattled in the bottom of the vase and out came the hand.

A Mole Catcher.

A farm manager at Fodderly, Dingwall, Scotland, watching a mole catcher at work, saw sea gulls hovering over and occasionally alighting upon a turnip field in which the observer and others were at work. A particularly large and handsome bird attracted his attention by the graceful way it floated slowly over the drills, intently scanning the surface of the ground.

Suddenly, alighting itself a moment, it dropped, dug its bill into the heavy ground and rose with mole for its prey. Resting a few minutes, it gracefully began again a further search for prey. In a few minutes a second mole was unearthed.

Case of Cruelty.

A little girl whose acquaintance with the zoological wonders of creation was limited was looking at one of the elephants in Lincoln park, Chicago, while on her first visit to that popular resort.

Observing that the animal stood motionless near a watering trough, she said:

"Poor thing! Why don't they lift up his trunk and fasten it back so he can drink?"

"Wot happened then?"

"Well, Dog Faced Dick handed his hat up, and the professor started off by breaking a passel of eggs into it.

The bullet ketchup part of the programme happened right then. The coroner's waiting to hear from his friends in the east, if he has any."

Chicago Times-Herald.

Too Often True.

It requires 40 horses to pull family vanity at a funeral and only two to pull the corpse.—Catholic Universe.

Chicago Modesty.

"Chicago beats the world," announced the tall, slim traveling man after he had taken a late lunch in the hotel cafe. "It claims everything and concedes nothing. A novice would be made to think over there that Chicago exploited the universe, stocked it, watered the stock, issued a dozen series of bonds and ran it ever since.

"What do you think I went up against in that town last winter? I was coming out of one of the theaters when a cadaverous looking genius with ten inch hair asked me if I was a lawyer. I humored him to learn what his game was. 'Well, sir,' he continued, 'you have a chance to make a fortune. You have seen this play, strong on the stage and strong in the box office. It's superb, yet it's a bald faced, unmilitated, cold blooded plagiarism. I wrote it, every word of it. Not a situation, climax or sentence is changed. Go after the author for damages, and I'll give you half.'

"I dodged through the crowd ahead of us and made my escape."

"What was the play?"

"The Rivals."—Detroit Free Press.

A Newsboy's Triumph.

A pretty young lady dropped her dainty lace handkerchief at a State street corner the other afternoon. A dapper young man and a newsboy both saw it drop and simultaneously made a grab for it, and each got a corner.

"Let go; I've got it," whispered the fellow to the boy.

"Let go yourself!" shouted the newsy. "I've got it."

While the man was apparently whispering a bribe to the boy the latter suddenly jerked the handkerchief out of his hands and handed it to the smiling girl, with the remark:

"Dat guy wanted to make a mash, I guess, but I caught de snuffer first."

The crowd laughed, and the "guy" suddenly moved on.—Chicago News.

One of the Directors.

"Impossible," exclaimed the caller to the proud mother. "I can't believe that your son, who has only been in the employ of that great corporation for six months, is already a director.

"Well, I can. James is a splendid pennant, and here is the news in his last letter." He had just finished directing 10,000 circulars.—Detroit Free Press.

The Gossip.

More attention should be paid to the old fashioned saying, "He who brings will carry." If a man brings bad stories about others to you, he will carry bad stories about you to others. This is so true it is a wonder that people are not more cautious in their talk when with gossips. Don't let any one carry anything from you.—Atchison Globe.

Double Proof.

"Do you believe in heredity, Mrs. Simpson?"

"Indeed I do. Every mean trait Bobby has I can trace right back to his father."

"Does his father believe in heredity too?"

"Yes. He traces Bobby's faults all back to me."—Chicago Record.

Her View of It.

The conversation had flagged a little, and he felt it his duty to say something.

"In an address made in Boston," he remarked, "a reverend gentleman greatly deplores the use of arms."

"Bostonians are so cold, anyway," she returned spiritedly, "that love-making on that plan may satisfy them, but he feels himself if he thinks it ever will be popular elsewhere."—Chicago Post.

A Great Excuse.

Mother to Frank—How is it that you're late home nearly every night?

Frank—Well, no wonder; we've got such a big clock in our school.

Mother—Why, what has the clock to do with it?

Frank—"Cause it's so big it takes the hands an awful long while to get round it. If we had a clock like papa's little one, I'd get home a great deal quicker.

His Generosity.

Manager (to actress, who has made a hit)—Bravo, my dear; I'll raise your salary—

Actress—Oh, how good of you—

Manager (continuing)—On the four sheet posters, from $200 to $300 per week; but, as this will involve a little printing bill, you will have to stand a small cut of $15 a week until further notice."—Cleveland Leader.

Artists in Mother of Pearl.

The incrusted of precious woods with mother of pearl is in Hanor, French Tonquin, an important industry, an entire street—known as the "street of the laywers"—being devoted to it. Landscapes gleaming in the sun, sheafs of many colored flowers, the most delicate arabesques and many other beautiful things are evolved by the deft and pliant fingers of the artificers, with the aid of the plainest and crudest tools only, and marvelous cabinets and other articles are fashioned and put together without the aid of nails, by dovetailing and lacquer paste.

STATE FAIR BUSINESS CLOSED.

State fair business for the current year is closed and the expenses connected with the fair are paid, together with the indebtedness standing over from last year, which showing is as it should be. There is no State in the Union that is more capable of defraying the expense of a State fair than is Nevada, with its large and superior natural resources. All that is necessary to place the State in a position that it should occupy, because of its natural wealth, is good government.

The JOURNAL made a severe criticism when the fair closed, which will do no harm to the future efforts of the management in State fair matters. We do not believe in blowing soft at all times in business matters. The management was under disadvantages that do not usually exist in the State. The lateness of the season and its general disadvantage to farmers in maturing their crops accounts largely for the failure to make exhibits of farm products. The fruit crop of the State was a failure, because of the late frosts in May, and other conditions were presented which had a depressing influence upon all matters connected with the fair.

The society was in debt, which is, under most circumstances, very depressing to successful business effort. There has not been a season for many years past that has operated so fully as the present season against a successful exhibit of the industries and products of the State.

The grain crops were up to their usual standard of excellence, but were in many places more late than is the rule of maturity. Wheat in particular made a good yield, as the general average was from thirty to sixty bushels per acre, which is a yield equal to average seasons, and which is equal, if not beyond, the average production of lands in wheat producing countries, and is much above the average of other wheat producing States in the United States.

The people should not be altogether exempt from censure because of the failure of exhibits; they should be interested in advertising the resources of the State by exhibiting its superior products. The farmers should be excused because of the general backwardness of the spring and summer, but the same cause may not furnish an excuse for them for many years to come. The true relation of a State fair, or any fair in the State, to its products and industries is advertisement. The premiums offered are intended to stimulate effort to secure superior excellence by exhibitors. The premiums offered are secondary to the main purpose of the State in providing State fair contests by exhibitors.

The fairs of the State do not receive that care and attention to which they are entitled as an advertisement of the State's resources, which is not a surprise when the policy of those who have directed the government and business relations of the State has been to prevent any advertisement of the natural resources and soil wealth of the State. It is believed that in the near future the policy of oppression and suppression will be changed to a more liberal and humane policy, when the people and all industries will receive life and energy before unknown in the State.

When all matters connected with the State fair have been taken in review the management are entitled to credit upon general results. The way the directors has been cleared for a very successful fair the coming season, in which we hope the people will take sufficient interest to secure for the good of the commonwealth a fine exhibit. The good work of the management consists chiefly in the payment of the indebtedness outstanding against the society, the liquidation of which furnished work sufficient to keep the management busy much of the time.

The directors who are entitled to credit more especially for final success in the business of the society are Hon. Theo. Winters, A. D. Shane, George Alt, T. K. Hymers, John Fitzgerald, Rufus Kinney, R. W. Parry and President Lem Allen. Louis Bevier, secretary of the society, is entitled to receive credit for his work and diligence. The writer, who is a director, is not entitled to any credit, as he sustained the character, and sustained it well, of growler, whose presence is always a nuisance when work that requires undivided attention is being disposed of by others.

To-day the building of the river wall begins.

ABOUT THE "GAZETTE."

The Gazette leader, in last evening's issue, has the right ring. There is no foolishness in what is said by the leading Republican paper in the State upon the subject of State reform. We congratulate our neighbor upon the stand taken in the interests of the people and good government.

When the people of Nevada have learned that good government will come when they have taken charge of their best interests, it will come.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong, I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00.

Were Ready to Start.

A letter has just been received from Lieutenant Wright by his parents. It was dated at Manila early in September. The Nevada soldiers had turned in their arms and had nothing particular to do but impatiently wait for the day of sailing. All were in good health and spirits and were anticipating the good times when they would again set foot on the soil of the sage brush State.

THE LAMBS FOR WALL STREET.

The brassy, mealy peddler who stands at the street corner selling brass shirt studs for 5 cents apiece and shouting that he "guarantees" them to be gold catches many a wandering fool. The "guarantee" is given by a man who never expects to see his customers again, and the customers never expect to trade with him a second time. But the word "guarantee" carries weight with it, and the fool and his money, now as ever, are soon parted.

Every day mail brings me letters of inquiry regarding the stability of a set of Wall street sharks who offer to "guarantee" profits ranging from 10 to 100 per cent per month to all who will give up their good money and trust the sharpers to invest it in the maelstrom of speculation. Scarcely a week passes without the report in the newspapers of the exposure, the flight or arrest of one of these sharks. But the race of fools seems to be eternal, and it appears to be only necessary for the Wall street bungo man to take a new name and to hire desk-room in Wall street or one of its intervals to reap a new crop from a new line of customers.—Leslie's Weekly.

A FISH MYSTERY.

One strange feature of this sea life of the tropics is the regular recurrence of migratory swarms of fish of very small size that return in huge numbers year after year with such absolute regularity that the natives calculate on this event on a certain day in each year and even within an hour or two of the day. One such swarm of fish forms the occasion of an annual holiday and feast at Samoa. The fish is not unlike the whitebait for which the English Thames has so long been celebrated, and each year it arrives at Samoa on the same day in the month of October, remains for a day, or at the most two days, and then disappears entirely till the same day of the following year.

Why it comes or whence no curious naturalist has yet discovered, nor has anybody traced its onward course when it leaves the Samoa group, but the fact is unquestionable that suddenly, without notice, the still waters of the lagoon which surround each island within the fringing reef become alive with millions of fishes, passing through them for a single day and night and then disappearing for a year as though they had never come.—Lippincott's.

AN UNPLEASANT DIET.

Mr. Dukane-Jones indulged in a linguistic diet yesterday.

Mr. Gaswell—What do you mean by that?

Mr. Dukane—Northside made him eat his words.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The man who insists at the poker party that the husband is the lord and master is the one who takes off his shoes to sweep up stairs when he gets home.—New York Press.

A calm at sea resembles that artificial sleep which is produced by opium in an ardent fever; the disease is suspended, but no good is derived from it.

cure. I take pleasure in recommending it to others suffering from dreadful diseases.—J. W. LYNN, Dorr, W. Va.
This remedy sold by W. Pinniger.

The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon with in map. Any one who has had an attack of sciatic or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the infliction is demoniac enough to warrant the believe. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by W. Pinniger.

An Epidemic of Whooping Cough.
Last winter during an epidemic of whooping cough my children contracted the disease, having severe coughing spells. We had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy very successfully for a cold and naturally turned to it at that time and found it relieved the cough and effected a complete cure.

wood House, Norwood, N. Y. This remedy is for sale by W. Pinniger.
